

Dopamine is a neurotransmitter. Many different kinds of animals and humans use it to transmit information.

It is used when the brain sends signals to the muscles in the body to make them move.

It can make a person “feel good.”
Dopamine is an important chemical found in the brain.